

Wildscapes is an environmental consultancy offering a comprehensive range of ecological and land management services. As well as undertaking surveys and advising on ecological issues, we also design and deliver practical landscape creation and land management works which improve the environment for wildlife and for people.

Committed to the principles of sustainable development, our highly skilled team has extensive experience delivering a high quality, good value service which is tailored to the needs of our clients.

Design and Build

As experienced project managers, we deliver multi disciplinary design and build projects.

Our integrated expertise encompasses a wide range of fields, so we can offer a comprehensive portfolio of consultancy, ecological and landscape services. Our blend of technical expertise, business and project management acumen, creativity and dedication all contribute to our success in providing sustainable development solutions that maximise the value of green spaces.

From consultation with stakeholders added to our considerable knowledge and experience in the region, we deliver realistic collaborative solutions.

With connections into the wider conservation movement, our holistic ecological service is informed by site specific issues, a thorough understanding of wildlife and conservation issues in our area, as well as regional biodiversity priorities and national policy. By conducting surveys, BREEAM surveys, monitoring habitat sites and writing management plans we help enhance and protect the environment for all.	We offer a high quality landscape creation, grounds maintenance and conservation service to customers who want to improve the land that they own. We deliver important conservation and habitat works for organisations who protect the environment; such as Natural England and The Environment Agency. We approach land management in a sustainable way, meaning cost effective solutions for your business.	Our landscape design service can provide ideas and inspiration for transforming any outdoor setting in a rural or urban situation. We engage stakeholders and communities to develop designs which create new habitats and improve biodiversity. By fully understanding our clients' needs we generate design visions and deliver imaginative solutions.

Our commitment

We will push the boundaries of best practise by

- delivering excellence to customers and stakeholders
- maximising our specialist knowledge in the natural environment
- actively engaging with regulatory bodies to provide progressive, comprehensive solutions
- capitalising on our unique market position to balance the needs of conservation and commerce

Benefits

As the trading arm of the Wildlife Trust for Sheffield and Rotherham we have access to the Trust's professional knowledge and sphere of influence.

Planning and development projects benefit from our connections with the wider environmental community and conservation regulators, including our membership of the Association of Wildlife Trust Consultancies.

Our commercially aware staff have an excellent appreciation of the planning and development process.

All our trading profits are gift aided to the Wildlife Trust and used to support its wildlife conservation projects throughout the region.
